

VMD 105

Introduction

Henry Yu Li

VMD 105

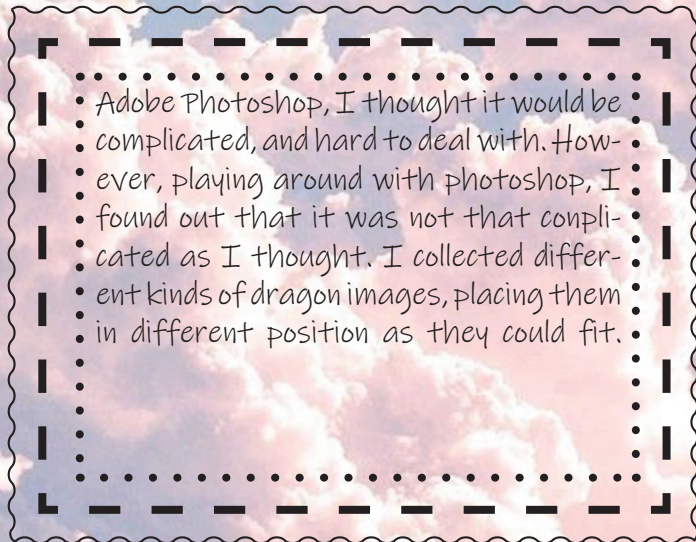

Hi everyone, This is Henry, and I am going to show all the art work I had done in this class so far. About all the material that had cover in this class was my first time experiencing it. Experiencing with different kinds of digital skill was having a lot of fun. Especially with adobe animation.

Raster

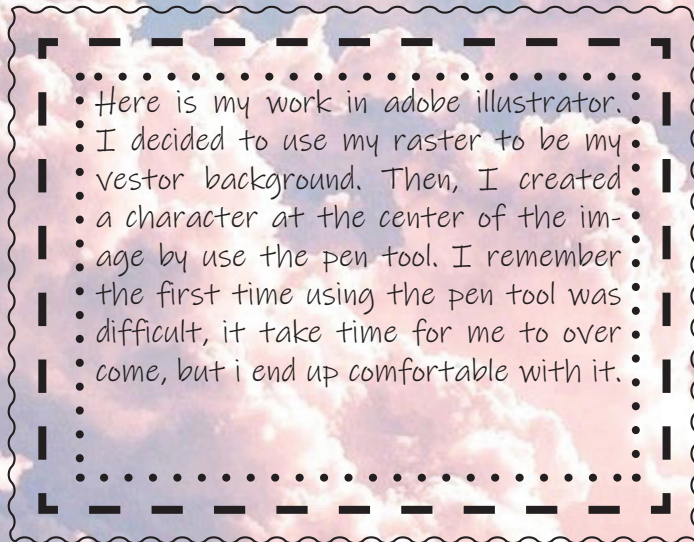

Adobe Photoshop, I thought it would be complicated, and hard to deal with. However, playing around with photoshop, I found out that it was not that complicated as I thought. I collected different kinds of dragon images, placing them in different position as they could fit.

Adobe animation was my favorite thing, but at the same time the most complicated thing. Big challenge at first, figuring out the function of every element. Creating the tween and frame was the most difficult part for me. It was excited to see my final result, which came out not bad. And I am trying to become an animator one day.

